Writing Paragraph

1. Traffic Jam

Traffic jam is a common affair in big cities and towns in our country. It is one of the major problems. Everyday the city people have to face this unbearable problem. The density of population is the main cause of traffic jam. The enormous increase in the number of buses, trucks, autorickshaws, rickshaws is also responsible for this problem. Moreover, the traffic control system is not advanced in our country. The drivers want to drive their vehicles at their sweet will, illegal parking of vehicles is also responsible for traffic jam. It causes untold sufferings to the movement of the vehicles and the passers-by. It kills our valuable time and our production is hampered. This problem can be solved by adopting some effective measures. First of all, traffic rules should be imposed strictly. Secondly, well planned spacious roads should be constructed. Besides, public awareness is also needed in this respect.

2. Our National Flag

National flag is the symbol of independence to a nation. Every nation of the world has a national flag of its own. Bangladesh has also a national flag. The proportion of its length and breadth is 10:6. Our national flag is a piece of rectangular green cloth with a round red disc like patch in the middle. The radius of the red circle is one-fifth of the length of the flag. The green colour represents the admiration of youthful vigour as well as the green fields and the evergreen subtropical forest of Bangladesh. The circle symbolizes the rising sun with new hopes and aspiration of a new nation. The flag is hoisted everyday on top of our important government buildings and educational institutions. It is hoisted everywhere on the independence day and the victory day. Our national flag always inspires us to dedicate our lives for the greater interest of the country. So we are proud of it.

3. Early Rising

Early rising means the habit of getting up from bed early in the morning. This habit is very useful to a man in various ways. Regarding it there is an English proverb— "Early to bed and early to rise makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise." Really this proverb is correct. An early riser finds time to take some exercise or a walk in the morning air. The morning air refreshes both his mind and body. This certainly improves his health and gives him energy for the day's work. This habit also enables a man to begin his day's work early. He gets plenty of time to perform his duties and hence he becomes wealthy. The habit gives him an opportunity to enjoy the beauties of nature. He is inspired to think over the wonderful creation of Allah. This makes him wise. So, we should form the habit of early rising for the happiness and prosperity of our life.

4. A Rainy Day

If it so happens that it rains all day long, we call it a rainy day. In such a day, the sky remains cloudy. The sun is not seen at all. The day looks dull and gloomy. Sometimes it rains heavily and sometimes it drizzles. Often there are flashes of lightning and roars of thunder in the sky. Birds are hardly seen to fly. They keep standing on the branches of trees. Cattle keep standing on their sheds. In such a day people have to remain indoors. The roads become almost muddy and desolate. One cannot move from one place to another easily. One does not generally come out without compulsion. The poor suffer much. They cannot go out to earn their daily bread. It is a great joy to the students. Because classes are not held that day. Some people then spend time in gossiping, playing at cards, singing or hearing songs. After all, a rainy day gives us both joy and sorrow. It comes to different classes of people in different ways.

5. Tree Plantation

Tree plantation means planting trees in a large number. Trees are very important to us in many ways. We cannot think of our existence without trees. Trees cover a great deal of our food deficiency by providing fruits and vitamins. They supply timber for various uses. Trees prevent soil erosion. Many kinds of medicines are prepared from leaves, roots and barks of trees. Above all, they help us to keep ecological balance supplying oxygen. Generally trees are planted in July and August. They can be planted in roadsides and in all educational institutions. But our trees and forests are not sufficient in proportion to our total land area. To preserve our environment we should plant more and more trees. Government should encourage the people for plantation through various media.

6. Our Madrasah Magazine

The name of our madrasah is Sonapur Alim Madrasah. Like others, we have a madrasah magazine. It is published once in a year. The title of our magazine is "The Light of Dawn". Its layout is very nice. At first a magazine committee is formed in a general meeting for the publication of the magazine. The principal of the madrasah is the president of the committee. He inspires us to submit our writings. An English teacher is the adviser. The other members of the committee help him for the publication of the magazine. The magazine contains essays, poems, stories, feature etc. both in English and Bengali. It also contains the message of the principal. Mainly students write for this magazine. Some teachers write also for it. All the students and the members of the committee do their best duties properly for the publication of a good magazine. It helps us to know more about literature.

7. The Bad Impacts of Deforestation

Deforestation means cutting down trees in large number. The causes of deforestation are many. People cut down trees in large number to draw quick profit from them. To get more space for cultivation people are deforesting. Besides these, the lucrative price of wood also allures people to cut trees. This destruction disrupts our ecological balance. The existence of animals are going to be threatened due to deforestation. Carbon dioxide is increasing worldwide. As a result, the world is becoming warmer. The sea level is rising and many parts of the world is going to be engulfed by the sea in recent future. On the other hand, new areas of the world are turning into deserts as an immediate effect of deforestation. We may face the problem of flood, soil erosion and drought etc. We can take many measures to prevent deforestation. Tree plantation programme should be expanded to the remote corner of the country. The government should make T.V. and radio programme on the subject of afforestation. The common people should be informed of the danger of deforestation.

8. International Mother Language Day

Mother language means the first language of a person. People can express their feeling, thoughts etc. easily through their mother language. The 21st February is observed as the International Mother Language Day. It is a red letter day in our national life. On this very day in 1952 many people laid down their lives for the sake of our mother tongue. In order to show due respect and honour to the language martyrs UNESCO declared this day as The International Mother Language Day on the 17th November, 1999. This declaration has turned a national celebration into an international event. Every year on this day, people walk to the Shaheed Minar barefooted and offer floral wreaths on the pavement. The Government, different organisation arrange programmes to celebrate the day. The objectives of observing the day are to inspire a person to love his mother language as well as to show respect to all other mother languages of other nations at a time. All the states under UNO celebrate the day every year. However, the recognition has added a new chapter in our national history. It has upheld the prestige of Bangalees all over the world.

9. A Book Fair/My Visit to A Book Fair

Book fair is an attractive fair where different types of books are displayed and sold. Nowadays it has become very popular. I was very lucky to visit the Ekushey Boi Mela this year. Every year, the fair is held on the occasion of 21st February to remind us the struggle and sacrifice in the language movement. The fair was organised by Bangla Academy in the premises of the institution. I went there with some of my friends. When I entered the main gate of the fair, I found a different environment. I saw all sorts of books such as fictions, text books, dramas, children books, reference books etc. Men, women and children of all ages and classes gathered there. The stalls were occupied by different publishers from a book stall. I bought some favourite books. In the evening, many poets, novelists and writers came to visit the fair. Besides books, other attractive articles were also sold in the fair. Seminars and cultural programmes were also held in the fair. Book fair is very important because it upgrades our thoughts and expands our knowledge. I was very delighted visiting such a fair and gathered some new experience there.

10. Environment Pollution

Nature, land, air, water and all other things around us in where we live are called environment. Environmental pollution means a remarkable change in chemical, physical and biological characteristics of environment. It has become a serious problem in our country. Environment pollution is dangerous for our existence. Our environment is polluted in many ways. People burn wood, oil and gas to cook and thereby pollute air. Cars, buses, trains, and jet planes emit poisonous gas in the air. People throw away rubbish and that also pollutes the environment. The industries emit gas which is harmful for human beings. The use of CFC gas in air conditioners and fridge also pollutes air and destroys the ozone layer. Therefore, the temperature of the world is rising and as a result one fourth of the world might go under sea-water in future. Water is also polluted in many ways. The industries throw waste product into the seas and rivers. The use of insecticides for increased production also pollutes water because they are washed away by rainwater into the rivers. People cut down trees freely and affect the environment. However, now people have become conscious about environment pollution. Government is trying to solve this problem. But everyone should work together to get rid of this problem.

11. Mobile Phone

Today the world is advancing in an inconceivable way. The victory of science has risen in every part of the world. Science has made impossible things possible. It has brought the world to our reach. It is said that the present world is a clicking of a mouse or a button of an digital device. Mobile phone is one of the amazing inventions of science. Before mobile phone was invented, communication and messaging system was very hard. But mobile has now conquered the distance of the world. It is such a cordless phone by which we can communicate and talk to others immediately wherever he stays in the world. It is pragmatic and an interesting instrument that nowadays messaging and internet system have been included in it. So one can easily send a message to anyone and can be introduced to internet technology. It is comparatively cheap in our country. Though it was a sign of aristocracy in the past, now it is found in everyone's hand in our country. Today it has turned into a merely need. However, with all the merits, a mobile phone has some demerits too. It is sometimes injurious to our health. It can harm our brain when we talk through it. Again the excessive use of mobile often causes fatal diseases like brain tumor, cancer etc. So, we should be conscious in using it.

12. Necessity of Learning English

English is an international language. No nation can prosper without it today. A pilot or a stewardess, a telephone operator or a tourist guide must know English. Also if a person likes to get a job in a foreign office, in a post office or in a big hotel must know English. A postman must read foreign envelopes. A telephone operator must use English to make calls to other countries. In an airport a pilot or a stewardess must talk to foreigners in English. A foreign office cannot function without English knowing people. Nowadays all papers and documents in every office are to prepare in English. If a student wants to get higher education, he must have a sound knowledge in English. Because all books in higher classes are published in English and lectures in classes are also given in English. Thus the necessity of learning English cannot be ignored in any way. So, everyone of us should learn English.

13. My Favourite Hobby

A hobby is a favourite subject which man follows not because it is the main business but because it gives him pleasure. There are so many fashionable hobbies such as stamp-collecting, coin-collecting, photography etc. But my favourite hobby is gardening. I dig the land, sow the seeds and water the plants in my garden. It involves hard work but it is not tiresome, because it is love's about. I can sit for hours in my garden, watching the buds come up and the branches nodding in the breeze. I feel that the plants and their flowers are no mute insensate things. They have a language of their own which I understand. Although a hobby is a source of pleasure, not of profit, rather hobby combines the two. My mother looks upon it very kindly. My friends often ask me why I have chosen gardening as my hobby when there are so many fashionable hobbies. Frankly speaking, nobody knows why he has chosen his hobby. Possibly his character draws him to it. For this reason, a hobby is an index to a man's character.

14. Uses and Abuses of Facebook

Facebook is one of the most popular social networks in this hi-tech civilization. Modern communities cannot think their day-to-day life without social media like Facebook, Google Plus, LinkedIn, Twitter etc. Facebook has made the communication of today's people more easy. One can share one's ideas, states of one's mind and status of one's conditions. Above all, one can maintain a close relation among the friends, classmates and other relatives. One can get one's friends in no time. When there were no social media, people used view cards or photos for exchanging greetings, which were delivered by post mails or emails. Post mail was in very slow process. But today with the aid of Facebook, we can share photos and videos among our friends. We can always keep connected with our friends and family members. But this great blessing of modern science has some demerits too. Many young boys and girls become addicted to it and spend more time on it than studies. Sometimes, privacy is not ensured. Some people devoid of common sense post nude pictures. Seeing these pictures, the tender mind of youngsters severely get damaged. A long term bad effects can be seen in those adolescents. So, Facebook does not bring good always when it is used abusively. In this regard, the guardians have duties and responsibilities towards their children. They have to have their careful eyes especially on their school going children who can become the victims of Facebook's bad effects very easily. However, despite there being a few bad sides of Facebook, it has great importance for the communication of modern people.

15. A Street Hawker

A man who sells various things by moving from street to street is a street hawker. He is a self-employed person. He is the most familiar figure in the cities and towns. In a village, he is also seen. He wears a peculiar dress of different colours and makes peculiar sound to draw the attention of his customers. His work is tiresome. He carries his materials on head, sometimes in hand, sometimes in a bag and sometimes in a small handcart. He generally buys his goods at a cheaper rate and sells them at a good profit. His articles are mainly attractive to the women and children. He usually sells toys, cosmetics, readymade garments, utensils, sweets, ribbons, fruits etc. Generally in the absence of the housemaster he comes to sell his goods. Although he works hard, his life is miserable. Almost all the time he leads a subhuman life. To alleviate his misery we all should buy his products and encourage others to do so.

16. Our Madrasah/School Library

A library is the place where different sorts of books are kept. Our madrasah has a rich library. It is housed in a separate building. Our madrasah library is well decorated. There are three big rooms in it. The two rooms are reading rooms. Boys and girls have separate rooms. In the other room books are arranged in almiras. There are about 5,000 books in our library. They include many reference books on our different subjects. It also contains some rare books on history and culture. Only the students can read and borrow books from the library. For this they are issued library cards. A student can borrow two or three books at a time and keep them at home for a week. But in the reading room he is allowed to read as many books as he can. It remains open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. except on holidays. Our madrasah library is a great attraction for us. We are really proud of it.

17. Load-shedding

Load-shedding means the suspension of the supply of electricity for a certain period. It has become a regular affair in our country. Load-shedding is caused for different causes. The insufficient production of electricity in our country is the main cause of load-shedding. Misuse of electricity is the another cause. Illegal connection of electricity is also responsible for load-shedding. On the other hand, government is not sincere to produce electricity in proportion to our demand. So due to load-shedding production in mills and factories decreases. Fresh food taken in the refrigerator gets rotten. Load-shedding at night encourages the miscreants in their violent works. It also disturbs the study of the students. After all, load-shedding affects the economy of our country. So our government should establish more plans and power houses to solve this problem. Illegal connection and system loss should also be stopped.

18. The Life of a Farmer

An ideal farmer is a very important person in our society. Generally, in our country, he lives in a village. His house is made of corrugated iron sheets or straws. An ideal farmer lives a very simple life. He earns his livelihood by the sweat of his brow. He works from morning till evening. He gets up very early in the morning and takes a little breakfast. He goes to his field with his wooden plough and a pair of bullocks. He cultivates and prepares his land with simple hand made tools. Sometimes he is too busy that he cannot make time to go home for the noonday meal. He has both pleasures and pains in his life. He gets pleasures when he has a good harvest. But he gets pains when his crops are destroyed by droughts, floods or cyclones. Though a farmer works hard he does not get enough to eat. He lives from hand to mouth. He also suffers from many diseases. An ideal farmer is an asset to the country. He contributes a lot to the economy of the country. So all of us should respect him.

19. A Tea Stall

Tea is a popular drink all over the world. So, a tea stall is a common place to all classes of people. In a tea-stall hot drink or tea is supplied. Biscuits, bread, bananas, betel leaf are also available here. It opens early in the morning and closes late at night. It is usually found at the turn of the road, in the train station or steamer ghat, near a factory or an office. It is not well-furnished. Even in some stall there are no chairs but benches. A tea-stall has normally two parts. In the front part there are chairs, tables and show-cases. In the other part there is the kitchen. A boy is employed in a tea-stall. Sometimes, the owner himself serves as the boy and the cashier. Different kinds of people gather here. They refresh themselves with a cup of tea and discuss different topics. Sometimes they discuss politics in a tea-stall. Thus a tea-stall is a noisy and busy place. Really its utility cannot be ignored

20. A Street/Road Accident

Nowadays street accident has become a common incident in Bangladesh. Everyday we find the news of street accident in the dailies. Some days ago, a tragic accident took place just before my eyes at Debidwar. A boy was crossing the road near Debidwar Mohila College. A bus with full speed was coming from the opposite direction. When the boy saw the bus a few yards near him, he got puzzled. Suddenly he turned and started to cross the road. He had just moved to the middle of the road and the bus ran over him. The bus stopped with a peal. A crowd rushed to the spot. I ran to the boy and in the twinkling of an eye I saw that the boy was senseless. There was blood flowing on the street. I took the wounded boy into a car and told the driver to proceed to the Upazilla Health Complex. There the doctors and nurses took every care of him. But it was a matter of great regret that he died there. I could not bear to watch the scene. With the broken heart I came back home afterwards.

4. Suppose, Mamun is your younger brother. He has become accustomed to smoking. Now, write a letter to your brother advising him to avoid smoking.

Dhaka

Date : ---/---/---

Dear Mamun,

Assalamu alaikum.

I received your letter timely. I am happy to receive your letter. One thing has shocked me much that you have become a chain smoker. But you should know the bad effects of smoking. It damages lungs day by day. It can cause fatal (মারাত্মক) diseases like cancer, heart disease, bronchitis etc. It also harms our nerves and brains. If you want to lead a happy life, you should avoid smoking.

So, I advise you to give up this bad habit without any delay. No more today.

Yours brother,

Tuhin

5. Suppose, your younger brother lives in the hostel of a madrasah where he studies. He is a good student but takes no physical exercise. Now, write a letter to him describing the importance of physical exercise.

Mohammadpur, Dhaka

Date : ---/---/---

My dear Hasan,
Assalamu alaikum.

I am happy to learn that you are going on well with your studies in the hostel. I knew that you get up from bed late in the morning everyday and do not take any physical exercise.

You know that health is wealth. A sound mind lies in a sound body. In order to maintain a sound mind, you are to keep your body fit at first and it is physical exercise which enables a student to maintain a good physique. Hard study, perseverance, punctuality, sincerity etc. are needed to cut a good figure in the examination. And this is not possible without a strong and stout body. If you fail to keep your body sound, you will lose all zest of life and then life would be dull and meaningless to you. So, I advise you to get up early in the morning and take some physical exercises regularly.

Yours affectionately,
elder brother,
Masum

7. Suppose, your younger brother Foysal giving up his studies, has been mixing with bad company. Now, write a letter to him advising him to be attentive to his studies avoiding bad company.

Dhaka

Date : ---/---/---

My dear Foysal,

At the outset take my salam. In the previous letter mother complained against you that you have become indifferent to your studies. On the other hand, it seems you are mixing with bad company.

Foysal! You are now passing teen-age period. This is a very critical time of a man's life. If you utilize this time properly, you will one day get its sweet fruit but if you waste your time by mixing with bad company, your life will be ruined. In this period of life, many illusion will try to attract you and destroy your life. If you try to realise this truth and do your work accordingly, you will surely be successful. Otherwise your life will be destroyed. This is the time to avoid bad company and to be attentive to your studies. No more today. I am ending wishing you a good future.

Your elder brother,
Kamal

Date : ---/---/---

Dear Brother,
Assalamu alaikum.

I have not heard from you for a pretty long time. Father and mother are anxious about you. However, I went to my grandparents' home Khude Barmi to spend the summer vacation (ছুটি). I stayed there for about a week. You know there are large cornfields (শস্যক্ষেত্র) and greeneries all around. The place is very beautiful. I stayed with Tuhin and he took me to the hats several days. He also took me to the river. I enjoyed fishing in the river and ate plenty of ripe mangoes and jackfruits. We felt your absence all the time. How are you and all at your residence?

Please write to us soon. With love and regards to all.

Yours affectionately,

11. Suppose, one of your bosom friends wanted to know about your aim in life. Now, write a letter to your friend about your aim in life.

Narsingdi
Date : ---/---/---

Dear Rumi,
Assalamu alaikum.

Thank you for your letter. In response to your letter I am now going to tell you about the aim of my life. You know I have a keen interest in computer learning. Actually, I want to be a computer engineer. Of course, there are some practical reasons for choosing this career. Nowadays, computer influences our practical life greatly. In fact, modern life cannot run without computer. This machine is used in treatment, communication, calculation, games and sports, making any plan and what not. So, a man without any knowledge of computer is blamed to be back-dated. He may not get a good job. On the other hand, job facilities are available for those who have a good knowledge of computer. So I'm determined to pursue my higher studies in computer science and technology. I have firm faith that I would succeed in my attempt. What are you thinking about your future aim? Please let me know by return mail. With best wishes to you all.

Yours ever,
Shakib

12. Suppose, you are Karim. You know English is an international language and it is very important everywhere. But your younger brother/friend does not know the importance of learning English. Now, write a letter to him telling him about the usefulness/importance of learning English.

Gopalganj
Date : ---/---/---

My Dear Asif,
Assalamu alaikum.

I received your letter yesterday. I am very sorry to know that you are weak in English. As an international language you must have good skill in English. It is needed for all kinds of jobs. In order to have a good job you must have proper knowledge in English. If you want to get higher education, you must know English properly. Because most of the books of the higher level are written in English.

Without knowing English you will not be able to communicate with the foreigners. It is impossible to be a doctor or a skilled engineer without having adequate (পর্যাপ্ত) knowledge in English. I hope now you will understand the usefulness/ importance of learning English.

I am well. Best wishes to you.

Your elder brother,

- 15. Suppose, your brother has become insincere and inattentive to his study. He keeps himself with bad company and whiles away his time. Now, write a letter to your younger brother advising him to be sincere and attentive to his study.

Daudkandi,

Cumilla

Date : ---/---/---

Dear Nasir,

It was quite long since we received any letter from you. Yesterday your progress report of Second Terminal Examination from your headmaster reached us. We have become very shocked to know from the report that you have failed almost in all subjects.

We had although a high opinion about you, but you have greatly disappointed us. I am sure that you keep bad company and while away your time. Remember time once gone can never be got back and bad habits once formed are not easy to give up.

I like to remind you that we belong to a middle class family. Our educational expenses are borne with great difficulty. We have to stand on your own feet. We should not do anything which pains our parents. You should know that only the fittest can survive. Time is not long ahead when you will have to earn. Without proper education you can not expect to get a good job. Student life is the proper time to get proper education. So you must be sincere and regular to your studies. You must learn to value time and give up your irregularity. At the same time you have to give up bad company.

Yours sincerely,

Habib

Rajshahi

Dear John,

I hope you are well. I wanted to tell you about the July Revolution in Bangladesh in 2024. The protests began due to corruption and bad governance. People from all groups, including students and Islamic scholars, joined in. The government, led by Sheikh Hasina, responded very harshly.

The army chief eventually stopped supporting her, and on 5 August 2024, she resigned and fled to India. Soon after, Muhammad Yunus took over as head of an interim government. The revolution united the country, and many people gave their lives for change. We hope the new government will bring positive change.

Take care, and I look forward to hearing from you!

Best,

Selim Khan

Subject : Complaint against improper relief distribution

Sir,

With great regret I would like to draw your attention to the fact that the people of our village have been suffering from various problems as they are flood victims. Recently, our village has gone under water and most of the houses are now damaged due to flood. Now, people are living under open sky and passing their days almost without any food and drinking water. We have learnt from different sources that some organizations have sent some relief items and medicine for the affected people. But it is a matter of misfortune that some local dishonest people have misappropriated those items and the poor, distressed people did not get any kind of help. This has made their life miserable for want of food, drinking water, medicine and other relief materials.

Some local people tried to provide them with food, water, etc. but that was not sufficient to fulfil all the requirements of the flood affected people.

I, therefore, pray and hope that you would be kind enough to grant my application and oblige thereby.

Yours faithfully,

Akhter Hamid

Writing Short Composition

1. My Aim in Life

Introduction : Every man has an aim in life. A man without an aim is like a boat or a ship without a rudder (হাল). A man cannot succeed in life without an aim. A fixed aim helps a man to be led to his/her target and thus helps succeed in life.

My aim in life : Different men have different aims in life. Some want to be high officials or scholars or poets, etc. Someone wants to be a doctor or an engineer or a teacher. I am a student of class X. I have a definite aim of my life. The aim of my life is to become a doctor and serve the poor villagers. My father who is a doctor always inspires (উৎসাহ যোগান) me to be a doctor like him.

Reason of my choice : The reason of my such choice is that most of the people of our village are poor and illiterate (নিরক্ষর)। Good doctors are not available in the villages. So, the villagers do not get help and advice of a good doctor. They suffer from many diseases and often die a premature death (অকাল মৃত্যু). By observing their miseries, my heart is filled with profound (গভীর) grief (দুঃখ). I want to serve them by providing them proper treatment (চিকিৎসা). Therefore, I have decided to be a doctor.

My preparation and promise : After passing the Dakhil Examination, I shall get myself admitted into Govt. Madrasah-E-Alia. After I have passed the Alim Examination, I shall get myself admitted into a medical college for M.B.B.S. After completing M.B.B.S, I shall come back to my village and serve the villagers. I shall take no fee from the poor. If I can earn enough money, I will set up a charitable dispensary (দাতব্য চিকিৎসালয়) in my village.

Conclusion : Success in life depends largely upon the right choice of profession. So, at the time of making such a choice we should think about our liking and abilities and also the urge to do something for the humanity.

2. Student Life

Introduction : The period that we spend in acquiring knowledge in our educational institutions like madrasahs, schools, colleges, universities, etc. is called student life. It is the golden period of life. We decorate our dreams in our mind in this stage. It is also called the period of sowing seeds (বীজ বপনের সময়). In this stage, as a student will sow, so will he reap.

Duties of a student : A student's first and foremost duty is to study and acquire knowledge and prepare himself for a particular profession. He should be regular in his classes and should read his lessons attentively. Besides reading text books, he should read newspapers, magazines, novels, dramas etc. to gather extra knowledge. A student should always make the best use of his time because time and tide wait for none. In student life a student should form the habit of practising honesty, perseverance, sympathy, generosity (উদারতা) and obedience (আনুগত্য).

Social duties : A student may often come forward to render social services. During vacation, they can organise adult (বয়স্ক) education. They can arrange various kinds of educational programmes for the destitute (অসহায়) children. Moreover, the students usually play an important role in arranging blood donation activities (রক্তদান কর্মসূচি).

Duties to the nation : Today's students are the future leaders of the nation. So they should play a role in building the nation from their early life. They should extend (প্রসারিত করা) their helping hands in time of any national crisis (সংকট). For instance, during the natural calamities they can stand by the people to ease their sufferings. In such situations, they can collect funds for the homeless and the penniless and take part in relief. Finally, they should study and work hard for the country with patriotic feelings.

Conclusion : Keeping all these in mind, the students should widen (প্রসারিত করা) their mental horizon (দিগন্ত). They should be confident and should study hard to enrich themselves with the latest knowledge of the world.

3. Discipline

Introduction : Man is a social (সামাজিক) being. He has to live with others in society. In society he cannot do whatever he likes. He must obey some rules and regulations (নিয়ম-কানুন). To obey these rules and regulations is called discipline. It helps a man to mould (গঠন করা) his life according to the prevailing (প্রচলিত) law and order.

Value of discipline : The value of discipline is indescribable (অবর্ণনীয়) in our life. It helps men to live in society with peace and happiness. It is the basis of all the virtues. Without discipline nothing can be improved in a country.

Discipline in nature : Nature shows a glaring (উজ্জ্বল) example of discipline. The earth, the moon, the stars and all the planets (গ্রহ) move around the sun following discipline strictly (কঠোরভাবে).

Discipline in student life : Discipline is very necessary in every steps of our life. Student life is the best time to build the habit of discipline. A student must attend school punctually (যথাসময়ে) and obey the rules of the school. He must carry out the orders of the teachers. Without discipline the teachers cannot teach and the students cannot learn their lessons.

Discipline in army : Discipline is strictly maintained in the army. It is the part and parcel of military service. Difficulty and danger cannot prevent a soldier from carrying out the orders of his commander (সেনাপতি).

Discipline in games and sports : Discipline is necessary in games and sports (খেলাধুলায়). A player has to show respect to the decision of the referee. If the players in the play ground (খেলার মাঠ) do not obey the rules of the game and the orders of the captain, they are sure to lose the game.

Discipline in family life : All the members of a house should obey the rules of the family. A family, without discipline is sure to suffer chaos (বিশৃঙ্খলা) and unhappiness. A disciplined family leads a happy and healthy life.

Conclusion : Discipline is the root of all virtues of our life. Development of a society, a country and above all a nation is not possible without discipline. A life without discipline is like a ship without a rudder (হাল). So all of us should maintain discipline to ensure social peace and prosperity.

4. Computer

Introduction : Computer is the most wonderful contribution (অবদান) of modern science. It is an ultramodern (অত্যাধুনিক) electronic device (যন্ত্র) of modern technology (প্রযুক্তি). But it has no ability to do anything by itself. It works on the basis (ভিত্তি) of commands given by the operator (চালক). It can solve many complicated (জটিল) problems within a short time.

Invention and development : Computer was invented by the hard work of many scientists (বিজ্ঞানী)। Charles Bavez is called the father of modern computer. He invented the structure of computer in 1833. His invented computer had five parts. These were Store, Mill, Control, Input and Output. By following the structure of computer of Bavez, Harvard University and IBM company combindly (যৌথভাবে) invented the modern computer in 1944. After this, it has been rapidly (দ্রুত) modified (রূপান্তরিত) and many other computers have been developed.

How It Works : A computer performs three functions. It receives data, processes it and at last emits it. At first the details of work is put into the input of the computer. It is called programme. The computer does not work in our language. So the programme is to be put in its own language. This programme is typed and produced in the tele-type unit of the information input. The output prints the results with the help of the printing machine.

Usefulness : Computer is a very useful thing to us. It is used in our daily life for various purposes. It has made a great change in education. The students of developed countries use computer to prepare their study materials. The result of examinations now is prepared accurately by computer within a short time. Besides, printing books has been, much easier for computer. Computer is used to diagnose (ডায়াগনোজ-নির্ণয়ে) diseases. A new process of operation is invented by computer as an alternative (বিকল্প) to surgery (অস্ত্রচিকিৎসা). Beside this, computer is used to grind (চূর্ণ করতে) stones in normal pathological test (রোগনিরূপণ পরীক্ষা).

Now-a-days, computer is used to prepare document and budget and to store information. The price of currency and price of any share can be known instantly (তৎক্ষণাৎ) by computer.

At present, computer is used to run mills, factories and industries in developed countries. Cars, trains and planes are also run by the computer. Computer is being used in space research.

Disadvantages : In spite of having innumerable merits of computer, it has also some demerits. It weakens (দুর্বল করে) the eye-sight of the operator.

Conclusion : The computer is a blessing (আশীর্বাদ) of modern science. Today's world cannot be imagined without computer. It lessens our labour and makes our work easy and simple. But computer has not been widely introduced in Bangladesh. So Govt. should facilitate its use all over the country.

5. My Favourite Hobby

Introduction : Hobby means one's favourite (প্রিয়) occupation (বৃত্তি), but not one's main business (প্রধান পেশা). A man does not depend on it for his living (জীবিকা) but it is not less important than our main business. It is an interesting way (আনন্দদায়ক পথ) to enjoy his leisure period.

Kinds of hobby : There are many kinds of hobbies like gardening, drawing picture, painting, kite flying, stamp collecting (টিকিট সংগ্রহ করা), fishing etc. Whatever the hobby may be, it offers us pleasure and fun.

My hobby : I am a student. I also have a hobby. It is gardening. My garden is in front of my reading room. I have planted (রোপণ করেছি) many kinds of flower plants in it. I work there with a spade (কোদাল) during my leisure (অবসর). I make the soil loose, weed out the grass and plant (রোপণ করি) new flower plants. Sometimes I water (পানি দেই) them. There is a strong fence (বেড়া) around my garden so that the naughty boys and animals can do no harm to my flower plants.

Why I like it : I like gardening because it is very useful for health and mind. It is a sort of physical exercise. It strengthens (শক্তিশালী করে) my health and refreshes (সতেজ করা) my mind. Everyday I get great pleasures when I see the blooming flowers in the garden. I am charmed at their beauty when they are tossed (নাড়া দেওয়া) by gentle breeze (বাতাস)। I also get pleasure when the sweet scent of flowers come into my room. Besides this, I grow some vegetables in my garden. This saves a lot of expenses of my family.

Conclusion : For a cheerful and happy (আনন্দময়) life every man should have a hobby. But we should be careful that our main job is not hampered (বাহত না হয়) on account of it.

6. Value of Time

Introduction : The value of time in our life and in this world knows no bounds. Time has started its march (যাত্রা) from the very beginning of the creation (সৃষ্টি) of this universe. This very ancient (প্রাচীন) march has no end. But we have been sent to this world for a very short time. So, we have to make our life meaningful by utilizing our time. In fact, a man's life is nothing but sum total of years, months, days, hours and seconds.

Transitoriness (ক্ষণস্থায়ীত্ব) of time : Time never stays for anybody. It just goes on and on. The popular saying goes, "Time and tide wait for none." So, every moment is very precious. Our success depends on the best use of these moments. We must make a proper division of our time and do our duties properly. Only then we will be able to go forward and reach our goal. On the other hand, if we do not make the right use of our time, we will have to drag a miserable existence.

Lesson from history : History provides many examples of the importance of time. One of Napoleon's generals was a few minutes late in Water-loo's battle field. As a result, Napoleon had to face a terrible defeat. On the other hand, Robert Bruce, Abraham Lincoln, Einstein, Aristotle and such other great persons led their lives to the top of success making the best use of time.

Value of Time in student life: Student life is called the seed time of life. A student's future life depends on how he uses time in student life. If a student wastes his time in idleness and does not do his duties properly, he is sure to repent afterwards.

Conclusion : We are the best creation of Allah. We owe to Him because He has sent us to this beautiful earth. To pay off (পরিশোধ করা) our debt (ঋণ) to some extent, we must make proper use of time. Because anything good can be done or achieved (অর্জন করা যায়) only through making the best use of time.

7. Floods in Bangladesh

Introduction : Flood is a natural calamity. It is an annual affair in Bangladesh. Bangladesh suffers from flood almost every year. Due to excessive rainfall or any other cause when rivers and canals overflow their banks and make a huge loss to crops and property, it is called flood.

Causes of flood : The causes of flood are many. It is mainly caused by heavy showers of rain. It may be caused by cyclones, tidal bores (জলোচ্ছ্বাস) or melting of snow on mountains.

Effects of flood : Flood causes a big loss of our life, property and crops. It washes away villages, roads and even people's houses. Many human lives are lost. All the communication (যোগাযোগ) system is suspended (বিচ্ছিন্ন হয়). People become homeless. They take shelter on the high roads, schools and colleges. The after effects of flood are more dangerous. After flood epidemic (মহামারী) and famine (দুর্ভিক্ষ) break out. The areas affected by flood become muddy and unhealthy. There is scarcity (অভাব) of drinking water. The price of all daily necessities goes up (বৃদ্ধি পায়)। Relief should be given properly to the flood affected people. They should be rehabilitated (পুনর্বাসিত করা)। Easy loans and seeds should be given to them.

Last two floods in Bangladesh : The last two consequent floods in 2007 were very terrible. The floods caused a great havoc. It took a heavy toll of lives. Nearly fourty eight districts were swept over by the floods. Many people became homeless, many cattle died and huge properties were damaged.

Advantages : Floods do some good to us. It makes our lands fertile (উর্বর) depositing (জমা করে) silt. It washes away filth and dirt.

Steps to be taken : It is urgently necessary to take proper steps for the control of flood in our country. Both long and short term plans can be taken. The silted up beds (পলিযুক্ত নদীর তলা) of our rivers should be excavated (খনন করতে হবে) for carrying more water. Proper embankments (বাঁধ) should be constructed along the banks of the rivers.

Conclusion : Flood causes a huge loss to our country every year. So we must control flood at any cost.

8. A Journey by Boat

Introduction : Any kind of journey is pleasant to all. But a journey by boat or launch is specially (বিশেষ করে) very pleasant and enjoyable (উপভোগ) to me. I like it most. During the last autumn vacation (ছুটি) one of my friends requested me to attend his sister's marriage ceremony at Daudkandi. So I got a chance to make a journey by boat.

Description of the journey : We were five in number. On the fixed date we reached Homna launch ghat at 8 a.m. We hired a fine boat. We started our journey from Homnaghat at 10 a.m. There were two boatmen. The sky was clear. The river was calm (শান্ত) and full to the brim (কানায় কানায় পূর্ণ). At first the boatmen plied (চালা) the boat with oars (দাঁড়). When the wind was favourable they set sail (পাল তুলো). Soon the boat began to move fast. There were small waves in the river. The boat began to dance with the waves. The boatmen were singing. It was a Bhatiali song. It filled our heart with joy.

Scenery I enjoyed : We enjoyed the scenery of the river. We saw many boats big or small plying up and down. We saw some steamers and motor launches plying through the river. Fishermen were catching fish in the river. Boys and girls were swimming. Women were going home with jars filled with water. There were green fields on both sides of the river. Cattle were grazing there.

Destination : At about 4.p.m. we reached the ghat of my friend's house. My friend was very glad to see us. He received us cordially (আন্তরিকভাবে).

Conclusion : I was on a short journey. But it was the most pleasant journey in my life. I enjoyed it so much that the memory (স্মৃতি) of this boat journey will remain ever fresh (চির সজীব) in my heart.

9. Newspaper

Introduction : Man is naturally curious (অগ্রহী) to know about various events (ঘটনাসমূহ) of the world. The newspaper is the best medium to satisfy this curiosity. It is a paper that carries news to us. It tells us what is happening at home and abroad. It is the store-house of knowledge and information (তথ্য).

History : The newspaper was first published (প্রকাশিত হয়েছিল) in China. 'The Indian Gazette' published in 1774 was the first printed newspaper in Indian sub-continent (উপমহাদেশ). The first Bengali newspaper was the 'Samachar Darpan.'

Kinds of newspaper : There are many kinds of newspapers. They are the dailies, the weeklies, the monthlies, the quarterlies (ত্রৈমাসিক পত্রিকা) etc. The daily newspapers contain the news of daily affairs (দৈনিক ঘটনা) of home and abroad. The Daily Ittefaq, the Janakantha, the Jugantor, the Prothom Alo and the Samakal are the leading Bangla newspapers. The Daily Star and the Daily Sun are the leading English Newspapers in Bangladesh.

Usefulness : Newspaper plays a vital role in modern civilization. We can't think of modern world without it. It is very useful to all sections of people. Through it we can learn all the important things that happen in the world within twenty four hours. Reports of market conditions, games and sports, political and economic situations of a country come to us through it everyday. Newspaper has an educative value as well. Mere bookish knowledge is not sufficient in this competitive world. A newspaper helps one to enrich his general knowledge. A man who does not read newspaper is like a frog in a narrow well. Being ignorant of the current affairs, he can't take part in the talks and discussions in an enlightened society and thus he feels like a fish out of water.

Demerits : A newspaper is not altogether free from evils. Sometimes it publishes false or partisan (পক্ষপাতমূলক) news and excites (উত্তেজিত করে) public feelings.

Conclusion : We cannot imagine today's world without newspaper. It is often compared to a looking glass through which one can see everything what happens all around us. Newspaper should publish unbiased news and play its role responsibly.

10. My Childhood/My Childhood Memories

Introduction : Childhood is the sweetest and most memorable (স্মরণীয়) period in a man's life. Every man or woman has childhood memories. I have also some memories. Very often these memories are reflected (প্রতিফলিত হয়) on my mind. Whenever I remember my childhood days, I feel happy and delighted.

Memories of playmates : I always remember the playground (খেলার মাঠ) which was behind our house. I always used to play there with my friends. Some of my friends and I used to row (নৌকা বাইতাম) on the river, jump into it and swim in it. Sometimes we caught fish by hook.

Memories of stealing fruits: The memory of stealing fruits is still ever fresh in my mind. I along with my friends stole mangoes, lichis, black berries and other fruits. One day some of my friends and I went to steal mangos from a tree. But the owner of the tree caught us red handed. We were trembling with fear. But the man did nothing. I shall never forget this memory.

Memories of first day at madrasah : The memory of the first day at madrasah is still fresh in my mind. My father took me to the nearest Ebtedaye madrasah for admission. I was taken to the Superintendent room. At first I got frightened. The Superintendent asked me some questions. I could answer them properly. I was allowed to get myself admitted into class one and I went to attend a class. My classmates received me cordially (আন্তরিকভাবে)।

Memories of painful events : All of my memories are not joyful. Some are painful and touching. The death of my grandmother is one of them. One morning I heard the sound of crying. I saw my grandmother's body kept on the floor. It was covered with a white cloth. I could understand that she is no more in the world. I was greatly shocked and wept. It was the first death scene that I witnessed with a heavy heart. I will never forget this sad event.

Conclusion : Except a few unpleasant memories, my childhood days were golden. The happy memories of those days still fill my heart with joy. I wish I had my childhood days back again.

11. Population Problem in Bangladesh

Introduction : The population of a country is a blessing (আশীর্বাদ) to her. But it becomes a curse (অভিশাপ) when it grows very quickly and the people are not productive. Bangladesh is a small country. Her population is too much for her area. At present the population of our country is increasing rapidly. So population problem of our country is the burning question of the day.

Problems of over population : Over population is a great threat for our country. If our population grows at a high rate, our country will have to face a great problem. This will affect the economic development and progress of the country. The country would not be able to provide food, clothes, housing, educational facilities, medical facilities and other basic necessities of life to the excess of population.

Causes of over population : There are many causes of over population in our country. Some of these are:

(i) Ignorance (অজ্ঞতা) : Most of the people of our country are not aware of family planning. They do not know about the problem of over population. So they do not take the measures (ব্যবস্থাসমূহ) to control birth through family planning.

(ii) Superstitions (কুসংস্কারসমূহ): Religious superstitions obstruct (বাধা দেয়) our people in family planning or birth control. They believe that God will feed their children.

(iii) Early marriage : Most of the boys and girls in the village area get married before they become matured. This early marriage is a special cause of high rate of population growth.

(iv) Lack of female education : Women constitute half of the population of our country. But more than half of them are not educated. Uneducated women are not aware of the negative effects of over population.

Solution : To check the growth of over population the following measures should be taken :

Firstly, the high birth rate of population has to be checked through the family planning.

Secondly, we have to make campaign to educate mass people. It will help them to understand the value of family planning and the problem of over population.

Thirdly, early marriage has to be strictly prohibited by government law. People have to be aware about this. Various awareness-raising programmes should be taken to make the people eager to stop the high growth rate of population.

Conclusion : Population problem is, indeed, a great problem of our country. So, we all should play a role to check the growth of population to save the country.

12. The Season I Like Best

Spring is supposed to be the loveliest of all seasons. It is called the king of seasons. The natural beauty, weather, colour and charm of this season are the most congenial than those of other seasons. Hence I like this season best. Indeed it is favourite to all.

In the cycle of seasons spring comes after winter. Falgoun and Chaitra are the months of spring. Though its duration is two months, it comes and goes almost imperfectly. It's duration seems to be so short that it disappears before our realization.

The spring is the season of flowers. Many kinds of flowers bloom. They are of all colours. The fine display of their colours is especially fascinating. Roses, Beli, Rajanigandha are the flowers of the spring. Flowers attract bees and butterflies. Bees hum and fly from flower to flower in search of honey.

The Spring is the season of songs. All kinds of birds keep twittering. The 'wandering notes' of the cuckoo go direct to the heart of the people.

The Spring brings new life to all the trees and plants. With the advent of spring, nature puts on a gay and lovely appearance. Every object of nature becomes fresh. Trees put forth new leaves. Flowers bloom forth in thousand. All the nature look gay and fresh.

It is only the spring that offers the largest number of charming sights and sounds. The sky is blue and white. The sun shines brightly, gentle breeze from the south begins to blow. The catkin blooms on the bank of the river. All the trees are decorated with green leaves.

The charming sights and sounds exercise a great influence on the people of Bangladesh. The people of Bangladesh are distinctive nature lover. It is surely the spring which offers the largest number of charming sight and sounds that makes people forget the bleak winter days.

Spring is the most congenial season. There is neither too much hot nor much cold. It's duration is so short that it disappears before we have just begun to realize its charms. This is perhaps the main reason why people like it best.

13. Unemployment Problem in Bangladesh

Introduction : Bangladesh is a small country with large population. This country is widely (ব্যাপকভাবে) known as a poor country in the world. It is struggling hard to survive with its hundreds of burning problems. Unemployment problem is one of them. Unemployment means want of any kind of productive work. It has become an acute problem nowadays.

Causes of unemployment : There are many causes of unemployment problem. They are : Rapid growth of population, backwardness (পশ্চাৎপদতা) in industrialization, lack of capital and technology, lack of skill, lack of education, false sense of dignity (মর্যাদা), disliking for manual labour, inequitable (পক্ষপাতপূর্ণ) distribution of national wealth, political turmoil (অস্থিতিশীলতা) of the country, frequent (বারবার) visit of natural disasters like floods, cyclones, droughts etc.

Demerits of unemployment : Unemployment is a great social evil. It makes a man idle. There is a proverb that an idle brain is the workshop of devil (শয়তান). An idle person always indulges (প্রবৃত্ত হয়) in mischief (অনিষ্ট). So unemployment leads men to anti-social activities. Besides, lack of opportunities for employment makes people frustrated to take education. This problem is also responsible for braindrain (মোহাপাচার). In order to solve the problem we all should come ahead with patriotic zeal (উদ্দীপন) in a body. The following measures may prove effective to root out the problem :

- (i) The first necessary thing for the solution of the problem is the industrialization of the country. It means that a large number of mills, factories and firms should be set up throughout the country so that the unemployed can work there.
- (ii) Vocational training should be introduced and students should have some training in it.
- (iii) Our students and youths should be made to give up their mania (বোঁক) for jobs. They should be encouraged to respect manual labour and choose an independent career.
- (iv) Steps should be made to increase our national income to the maximum and distribute it equitably.
- (v) The government should be honest and sincere in their plans and policies.
- (vi) Above all, the growth of population should be kept within reasonable limit.

Conclusion : Our government have already taken some effective steps to remove (দূরীভূত করতে) the problem. But the government cannot solve it alone. All the people of the country should be active (সক্রিয় হতে হবে) against the spread of this great problem.

14. A Journey by Train I Made

Introduction : There are many quick means by which one can travel from one place to another. Among them a journey by train is cheap but enjoyable. I had a great attraction for train journey. Once I got an opportunity to make a long journey by train. It was from Dhaka to Chattogram.

Description : During the last winter vacation, one of my friends requested me to attend his sister's marriage ceremony at Chattogram. So I got a chance to make a journey by train. I accepted this invitation gladly. Two other friends joined us. On the fixed day we reached Kamalapur station at 7 a.m. The station was very crowded. Somehow we managed to buy our tickets. With great difficulty we got into the compartment. After a few minutes the guard blew the whistle and the train began to run.

Scenery enjoyed : I kept looking outside through the window. The train was passing through the green fields. Dew drops on green grasses were glittering like pearls. Trees and houses seemed to run behind. It was exciting for me to see the sights of rural Bangladesh. Small children were standing by the rail-roads, the carts were moving through the village roads, the farmers were working in the field, the village women were carrying pitchers, the cattle were grazing in the field etc. These sights reminded me a poem on train. I could not but recite some of its lines :

Faster than fairies, faster than witches,
Bridges, houses, hedges and ditches;

And here is a mill, and there is a river
Each a gamse and gone for ever.

While I was enjoying all these beautiful sights and sounds, I found my friends dozing. When I looked inside the compartment I also saw some other people dozing. Some were reading newspapers. The train touched a few big stations. We bought boiled eggs, bananas, magazines etc. from the hawkers. When the train started from Feni station, the beautiful sights of some Indian hills came to my view. All these filled my mind with pleasure. At last the train reached Chattogram at 5 p.m. and we got down safely with our luggage.

Conclusion : It was a very nice train journey. I enjoyed the journey from the beginning to the end. In fact, I enjoyed it so much that the memory of the journey will remain ever fresh in my mind.

15. Duties of a Student/Student and Social Service

Introduction : Students are the greatest force of a nation. They are the future leaders of a country. They can build or destroy a nation. Hence, they play a vital (গুরুত্বপূর্ণ) role in a society as well as in a country.

Primary duty: The primary duty of students is to acquire (অর্জন করা) knowledge. They should also try heart and soul to make themselves worthy (যোগ্য) citizens. For this, they should use most of their time in properly. They have to pay attention (মনোযোগ) to study to be well educated.

Service to illiterate people: Students can play a role to remove (দূর করা) illiteracy (নিরক্ষরতা) from the society. Students can work for this during their holidays. They can go to villages and make people aware (জ্ঞাত) of the importance of education. They can teach them in night schools.

Service to common people : Students can help the common people in different ways. They can help the farmers by telling them of the need for scientific methods of cultivation. They can also help the ignorant people by telling them of the importance of hygiene etc.

Service in national health : Students can do a lot for national health. In this case, female students' role is very important. They can teach illiterate women folk how to bring up (লালন পালন করা) their children and take care of their health. Besides (তাছাড়া), all the students in general can teach ordinary people how to keep the environment (পরিবেশ) clean.

Service in time of natural calamity : Students can help the people in distress during calamities (দুর্যোগ). They can collect funds for homeless and penniless (কপর্দকহীন) people and take part in relief operations (দ্রাণকার্য). Through the Red Cross Society, they can take part in humanitarian work at home and abroad.

Conclusion : The students have much to do for the society. Through social service, they can enrich (উন্নত করা) their minds. They can uphold (তুলে ধরা) the image (ভাবমূর্তি) of the nation through their social service. But they must be careful of their main job, that is, study.

16. A Village Fair I Visited

Introduction : A village fair is a gathering (সমাবেশ) of village people. It is usually held annually or periodically (সাময়িকভাবে) at a certain place on the occasion of Bengali new year's day or a religious festival. It lasts for a day or two. It is generally held in an open space or on the bank of the river or near a banyan tree.

Occasion : I had the experience of visiting a village fair held in our neighbouring (নেইবারিং-পার্শ্ববর্তী) village last month. It was the 30th Poush. The fair took place around a large banyan tree. It was observed on the occasion of the harvest-home (নবান্ন).

Visiting the fair : On the fixed day, I along with two of my cousins started for the fair at 10 a.m. Entering into the fair, we found hundreds of booths, stalls and tents (তরু) in the fields around the big banyan tree. I came to know that the traders, craftsmen and other interested people came to the place the previous day. Various kinds of goods such as dolls, earthen wares (মাটির সামগ্রী), toys, flutes (বালি), balloons, baskets, imitation ornaments etc. were displayed there in an attractive manner to draw the attention of the customers. Food of all kinds were also available in the fair.

Activities in the fair : We began to walk along the lanes between rows (সারি) of booths. We watched that men, women and children gathered in the fair in a large number. They were busy in buying for themselves and for their dear and near ones. We came to a place where there was merry-go-round (নাগরদোলা) and looked at it for sometime. Then we enjoyed a circus show. Coming out of the circus, I drank the water of a green coconut. Next I proceeded (অগ্রসর হয়েছিলাম) to the front of a booth and bought some fancy (শৌখিন) things for my younger sister. For myself, bought a mouth-organ and some sweetmeats.

Conclusion : I had been sweating (ধামছিলাম) profusely (প্রচণ্ডভাবে) since I got into the crowd. So, we came out of the crowd and started for home in the afternoon. From my visit to the fair, I have learnt many things about rural life (পল্লী জীবন) and culture. Really, the memory of this fair will remain ever fresh in my mind.

17. My Favourite Game

Introduction : There are many kinds of games in our country. Of all games, I like football most. It was first played in England. Now it is played in all the countries of the world.

My favourite game : Football is my favourite game because it has some special advantages. It is not as costly and time consuming as cricket. It gives us much delight. It thrills (পুলকিত করে) both the players and the spectators.

Basic features of the game : Football is an outdoor game. It requires a big field measuring 120 yards long and 80 yards wide. There are two goal posts at each end. The game is played between two teams. Each team has eleven players. Of them one is goal keeper, two full backs, three half backs and five forwards. There is a referee to conduct the game.

How played : At the beginning of the game the ball is placed at the centre of the field. The referee whistles (বাঁশি বাজায়) and the game begins. Then each team tries to pass the ball through the opposite goal post. But they are not allowed to touch the ball with hands. Only the goal keeper can touch and catch it. There is an interval (বিরতি) of 10 minutes. The sides are changed after the interval. The team which scores more goal wins the game.

Importance of the game : The game of football teaches us obedience to rules. It also teaches discipline, co-operation (সহযোগিতা) and leadership (নেতৃত্ব). It improves the health of a player and makes him prompt (তৎপর), careful, strong and hardy.

Conclusion : Football is a popular game in many countries of the world including Bangladesh. It is really a very exciting game. I like it because I enjoy it very much.

18. The Rivers of Bangladesh

Introduction : Bangladesh is a land of rivers. There are many big and small rivers. The Padma, the Jamuna, the Meghna are big and wide rivers. The Buriganga, the Sitalaksha, the Dholeswari, the Teesta, the Madhumati, the Gumati, the Karnafuli, the Ishamati, the Garai, the Rupsha etc. are the small rivers. Most of the rivers of Bangladesh rise from the Himalayas and fall into the Bay of Bengal.

The Padma : The Padma rises from the Himalayas. In India this river is called the Ganges. Through Rajshahi the Ganges entered into Bangladesh with the name of the Padma. The Padma mixes with the Jamuna near Goalando. And near Chandpur it is mixed with the Meghna and falls into the Bay of Bengal with the name of Meghna.

The Meghna : The Meghna rises in India near Naga Monipur. The Meghna mixes with the Padma near Chandpur.

The Brahmaputra : The Brahmaputra river rises in India also. This river entered into Bangladesh near Kurigram and one branch of the Brahmaputra is the Jamuna.

Gifts of rivers : The rivers bring enough silt and make the soil fertile. Both irrigation and manuring are done by these rivers. The beautiful cornfields of Bangladesh are the gifts of her rivers.

A great source of wealth : Our rivers are a great source of wealth. Our rivers abound in many kinds of fishes. The Padma, the Meghna, the Kacha and some other rivers are the home of the famous Hilsha fish. We also export fish to foreign countries. Many people earn their livelihood by fishing and thus fishing solves our unemployment problem to some extent. Various kinds of birds also live in the rivers.

Source of energy : Our rivers are also the source of energy. The Karnafuli Hydro-electric Project is an instance of this. The rivers that have a strong current can produce electricity we can use those rivers especially the swift flowing ones in the north-east region to produce more electricity.

Important for communication : The rivers of our country play a vital role in our communication. Transport by rivers is still much easier and cheaper than by land. Thousands of launches, steamers, steam boats, etc. ply on these rivers.

Demerits : Rivers have some demerits also. During the rainy season these rivers sometimes overflow their banks and cause floods. They also change their course washing away towns and villages. When the river overflows their banks they destroy crops, habitation domestic animals etc.

Conclusion : The rivers of our country have become an essential part of our existence and living. They help a lot in the progress and prosperity of the country. The Rivers are contributing much in developing our country. Our country cannot be imagined without the existence of the rivers.

19. Punctuality

Punctuality means keeping exact time in respect of all work and appointment. In a wider sense, it denotes the habit of doing a thing in its exact time. It is a virtue by which one can make proper use of time and rise to eminence.

Punctuality is the process for proper utilisation of time. If a man is punctual, he does every work at the appropriate hour. He does not miss an appointment, he is not late in office, he does not put off things for tomorrow. Thus he utilizes every minute of his time and enjoys a pride of performance. If a man, on the other hand, is not punctual, he gets up late in the morning. He misses to do many things at the right time. If a student is not punctual, he puts off his lessons, he goes to school late, he does not get any room on the front benches, he fails to follow the teacher from behind the class, he is held in disrepute. When the examination comes, he crams things and does very bad in the examination. An unpunctual man cannot complete his day's work. For not being punctual, he is fated to be doomed. Thus the utility of punctuality cannot be overstated.

Punctuality is a habit. If a man is habituated in keeping time he never becomes unpunctual. We can do things at the exact hours if we want to. In this respect we can get lessons from the lives of great men. They were punctual in their round of work and that was the secret of their rising to greatness.

One should form the habit of being punctual from one's childhood. We can learn it at home from our parents, at madrasahs from our teachers and in society from our superiors. Everybody should take care to become punctual in life.

20. A Journey I have Recently Enjoyed

Last month, I went on a wonderful journey to the mountains with my family. We planned a trip to Manali during the school holidays. I was very excited because I love traveling and seeing new places.

We started our journey early in the morning. The weather was cool and pleasant. We packed our bags, took some snacks, and began our trip by car. The roads were surrounded by tall trees and beautiful flowers. I enjoyed looking out of the window and seeing the green fields, rivers, and small villages.

After a few hours, we reached the mountains. The view was breathtaking. The mountains were covered with snow, and the air was fresh and cold. We stayed in a small hotel with a beautiful view of the snowy peaks. I took many pictures to remember the trip.

During our stay, we visited many tourist spots. We went to Solang Valley where I did snow skating for the first time. It was so much fun! We also went to the local market where I bought souvenirs for my friends. The food there was delicious, especially the hot momos and soups which kept us warm.

One evening, we sat around a bonfire and listened to local music. It felt magical under the starry sky. I made some new friends too. Everyone was very kind and friendly.

This journey was one of the best experiences of my life. I felt so happy and relaxed in the mountains. It gave me a break from my regular routine and filled me with new energy. I will always remember this trip and hope to go there again someday.
