Part A — Reading Test (Marks – 70)

Read the following passage and answer the questions no. 1, 2 and 3.

Zahir Raihan was one of the most talented film makers in Bangladesh. He was born on 19 August 1935 in the village Majupur in Feni district. He was an active worker of the Language Movement. He was one of the ten students to go out in a procession on 21 February 1952 despite a ban on such activities imposed by the authorities. As a result, he and many others were arrested and taken to prison. Raihan was also present at the historical meeting of Amtala on 21 February 1952. He also took part in the mass movement in 1969. In 1971, he joined the Liberation War. All through his life, Zahir Raihan dreamt for a democratic society, a society that would ensure freedom of speech. He had many dreams about our film industry too. He made a legendary film "Jibon Theke Neya" based on the Language Movement of 1952. It was a protest against the autocratic government then ruling our country. The family portrayed in that film symbolically represented East Pakistan. The family was ruled by an autocrat who had to go to prison for her conspiracy. During the Liberation War in 1971, this film was shown outside Bangladesh. Celebrated film makers like Satyajit Ray, Mrinal Sen, and Ritwik Ghatak appreciated the film. Raihan gave all the money the film made to the Freedom Fighters' trust.

Besides, his great documentary on Pakistani atrocities, "Stop Genocide", helped create world sentiment in favour of our Liberation War.

On 30 December 1971, someone informed Raihan about an address somewhere at Mirpur where he might find his brother, the famous writer Shahidullah Kaiser, who had gone missing from 14 December 1971. Kaiser was captured and killed by the Pakistani army and the local collaborators during the last days of the war. Accordingly, Raihan left home to get his brother back but he never returned.

Zahir Raihan's dream was fulfilled. But it's a pity that this dreamer could not live to see his dream come true.

- (h) Antonio was a wealthy, kind, and generous merchant who lived in Venice. He was honest, selfless, and always ready to help his friends. People loved him because he never charged interest on the money he lent to the needy.

10. As You Sow, so Shall You Reap
- Once upon a time, two friends went on a journey. They had to go through a forest. As they came through the woods, they saw a bag lying on the ground. Upon opening it, they discovered it was filled with gold coins. Overjoyed by this luck, they decided to divide the treasure equally between themselves. But they were very hungry. One friend went to a nearby village to buy food. The other friend stayed to guard the gold.*
- As the first friend walked to the village, he was overtaken by greed. He thought, "If I poison the food, I can have all the gold for myself." He bought the food and mixed poison into it. He felt happy because he wanted all the money. He started walking back to the forest with the poisoned meal.*
- Meanwhile, the other friend was sitting in the forest. He also became consumed by greed. He did not want to share the coins. He plotted to kill his friend when he returned. He thought, "If he dies, I can take all the gold myself." He waited behind a tree with a sharp weapon.*
- As soon as the first friend arrived with the food, the second friend attacked him. He killed his friend quickly. He felt very glad. He thought he was now the richest man in the world. Afterward, the second friend sat down and ate the poisoned food. He did not know the food was poisonous. Within moments, he felt a sharp pain. He too fell dead beside the bag of gold.*
- Both friends were gone. The gold was left alone under the trees. No one got the treasure because of their dark hearts.*

Part A – Reading Test (Marks – 70)

Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions no. 1, 2 and 3 :

Humans can neither change the sun's radiation nor the earth's orbit around the sun. But they can control the increase in the amount of greenhouse gases and its effect on the atmosphere. Only during the last hundred years the carbon dioxide concentration has been raised alarmingly in the atmosphere and we humans can be held responsible for this. The main cause of the increase in carbon dioxide level in the atmosphere is the burning of fossil fuels. Since the end of the 19th century, industrial activities increased rapidly giving rise to many factories. These factories required energy, which was produced through the combustion of coal. Besides coal, other sources of energy such as mineral oil and natural gas were also burned to heat our houses, run cars and airplanes or to produce electricity. Nowadays, about 85 million barrels of crude oil are burned daily. Every time a fossil raw material is burned, it releases carbon dioxide into the air.

Therefore, it is clear that more and more greenhouse gases like carbon dioxide are being generated worldwide by humans. Moreover, we are also strengthening the greenhouse effect by deforestation, which means cutting down trees. Trees that are burned up release large volumes of carbon dioxide gas into the air. On the other hand, as forests absorb a lot of carbon dioxide from the air and deliver oxygen instead, we also destroy an important storehouse of carbon dioxide when we clear forests.

1. Choose the best answer from the alternatives :

1. × 7 = 7

- (a) What has alarmingly increased in the atmosphere over the last hundred years?
 (i) Oxygen (ii) Carbon dioxide (iii) Nitrogen (iv) Hydrogen
- (b) What is the main source of carbon dioxide emission?
 (i) Solar energy (ii) Burning of fossil fuels (iii) Wind power (iv) Hydropower
- (c) What is another major greenhouse gas besides carbon dioxide?
 (i) Nitrogen (ii) Methane (iii) Argon (iv) Oxygen
- (d) How many barrels of crude oil are burned every day?
 (i) 85,000 (ii) 850,000 (iii) 85 million (iv) 8.5 billion
- (e) Why are greenhouse gases harmful?
 (i) They increase oxygen levels. (ii) They trap heat.
 (iii) They cool the Earth. (iv) They absorb sunlight.
- (f) What does "storehouse of carbon dioxide" refer to?
 (i) Atmosphere (ii) Oceans (iii) Forests (iv) Fossil fuels
- (g) What term refers to the energy source used by factories?
 (i) Renewable energy (ii) Fossil fuels (iii) Nuclear energy (iv) Solar energy

2. Answer the following questions :

2 × 5 = 10

- (a) What are the two major activities responsible for releasing carbon dioxide into the atmosphere?
 (b) What is the relationship between trees and carbon dioxide?
 (c) How does the burning of fossil fuels affect the earth's atmosphere?
 (d) What steps can humans take to control greenhouse gas emissions?
 (e) Why do industrial activities rely heavily on coal and crude oil?

3. Read the above passage and fill in each gap with a suitable word. 1 × 5 = 5
 Fossil fuels are burned at an alarming rate due to (a) —. Coal is one of the fuels used for (b) — energy. Our atmosphere is being polluted for the (c) — of greenhouse gases day by day. Our (d) — on fossil fuels should be reduced. We should not destroy our (e) — which play a vital role to produce oxygen.

Solution to Model Test

- (a+ii) Carbon dioxide; (b+ii) Burning of fossil fuels; (c+ii) Methane; (d+iii) 85 million; (e+ii) They trap heat.; (f+iii) Forests; (g+iii) Fossil fuels.
- The two major activities responsible for releasing carbon dioxide into the atmosphere are burning fossil fuels and indiscriminate cutting down and burning of trees.
 - Trees absorb carbon dioxide from the air and give out oxygen. Besides, when trees are burned up, they release carbon dioxide gas into the air.
 - Burning fossil fuels releases a large amount of carbon dioxide into the air. This increases greenhouse gases which make the earth's atmosphere warmer and strengthen the greenhouse effect.
 - To control greenhouse gas emissions, humans can reduce the use of fossil fuels, use clean energy like solar or wind power, plant more trees, and stop cutting down forests.
 - Industries rely on coal and crude oil because they are easy sources of energy. They have been used for a long time to run machines, produce electricity, heat buildings, and run vehicles.
- (a) production; (b) generating/producing; (c) increase; (d) reliance/ dependence; (e) woods/forests.
- (i) was born; (ii) 1632; (iii) Cambridge University; (iv) Mary Powell; (v) 1667.
- John Milton was a renowned English poet. He was born in London, studied at Cambridge University and continued an unprofessional study at Horton. Milton married twice, but both of his wives died early. He also lost his eyesight later in life. His greatest work, 'Paradise Lost', was completed in 1663 and published in 1667.
- (a+iii+iv) = Facebook is an internet based social network connecting people worldwide.
 - (b+v+v) = Nowadays Facebook has become an important part of our daily life.
 - (c+iv+ii) = It contributes much to maintain social and friendly relationship among people living anywhere.
 - (d+ii+iii) = People are also using Facebook to facilitate the official works.
 - (e+i+i) = Everybody having internet connection may gain access to Facebook.

8. (a) In the poem "Time, You Old Gipsy Man", the poet asks Time to stop or pause its relentless journey, even if just for a single day. He attempts to persuade Time by offering it various gifts.
- (b) The main theme of the poem "Time, You Old Gipsy Man" is the fleeting nature of Time and the human desire to stop its relentless passage. The poet wishes to slow down or pause Time so that he can enjoy the precious moments of life.
- (c) The main theme of the poem "Stopping by Woods on a Snowy Evening" is the balance between the desire to appreciate the beauty of nature and the necessity of fulfilling life's duties.
- (d) The speaker stops by some snow-covered woods while passing them. He stops there to watch the snow falling through the trees and admires its beauty.
- (e) Mary is probably a daughter of a peasant who lives beside the bank of the river Dee. She goes to bring the cattle home but gets drowned in the river because of the heavy tide caused by a deadly storm.
- (f) When Mary went out to bring the cattle home, the weather was very rough. There was wild western wind filled with mist and foam from the sea, and the western tide was rising along the shore.
- (g) The poem "O Me! O Life!" is about the purpose of life and the meaning of existence, even when our life is full of struggles and disappointments.
- (h) The speaker is a disillusioned and despairing version of the poet himself. The poet here reflects the futility and foolishness he perceives in both himself and the world. He criticizes himself for being as flawed as others. However, he ultimately realizes that just being alive gives us the chance to contribute something meaningful to life.
9. (a) Richards had brought the news of Mr. Brently Mallard's death. He was Mr. Mallard's friend. He was there in the newspaper office when the list of 'killed' was brought and saw Mr. Mallard's name at the top.
- (b) According to the rumour, Mr. Mallard died in a railroad accident. His friend Richards tried to confirm the news by a second telegram before informing Mr. Mallard's family.
- (c) Antonio was already in the court of justice when Bassanio reached Venice. He was awaiting his trial.
- (d) Antonio and others were waiting for the trial to begin in the court of justice. The trial was between Antonio and Shylock over a defaulted loan.
- (e) The Duke entered the courtroom when Bassanio reached the courtroom and found everyone waiting for the trial to begin.
- (f) Rosamond is the seven-year-old protagonist who is impulsive and has a great fascination for pretty but useless items. Her fascination leads her to choose a decorative purple jar over a pair of much-needed, new shoes.
- (g) Rosamond and her mother were walking in the streets of London, looking in at the windows of various shops. They went there for shopping.
- (h) When Rosamond saw the shop windows, she was enchanted and particularly drawn to the sparkling and colourful items. Despite not knowing their use or even their names, she wanted to buy them.
